CHEN MIN'ER, COMMUNIST PARTY SECRETARY OF GUIZHOU PROVINCE, VISITS EWHA

A delegation from Guizhou Province led by Communist Party Secretary Chen Min'er visited Ewha Womans University on April 22. Secretary Chen was accompanied by Wang Fengyou (Director of the Guizhou Provincial Department of Education) and Qiu Guohong (Chinese Ambassador to Korea) and met with President Kyunghee Choi.

Warmly welcomed by the Chinese Ewha Students Association (CESA) upon his arrival, there was a special ceremony where Secretary Chen wrote Chinese calligraphy about his impression of Ewha. Secretary Chen and President Choi agreed on educational exchanges and cooperation between Ewha Womans University and 57 colleges and universities in Guizhou province. After a brief visit to Ewha, President Choi and Secretary Chen together attended the opening ceremony of "Higher Education Fair in Guizhou province, China" held at the Plaza Hotel Seoul.

An MOU signing ceremony was held between Ewha Womans University and Guizhou Provincial Department of Education regarding educational exchange.

Often mentioned as one of the most trusted by Xi Jinping, President of China and General Secretary of the Communist Party of China, Secretary Chen is considered a candidate for the next political leadership.

He wrote "梨花清明", which was quoted from Wu Weixin's poem from the Song Dynasty. It meant "praising and praying for the spring of Ewha (梨花)."

Ewha Global Partnership Program 10th ANNIVERSARY

On May 2, "Ewha Global Partnership Program's 10th Anniversary Commemoration" was held at ECC Lee Sam-bong Hall by the Office of International Affairs.

The Ewha Global Partnership Program (EGPP) is Korea's first full scholarship program for female talents from overseas developing countries. Along with the Ewha Global Empowerment Program (EGEP) and Ewha-KOICA Master's Program, the EGPP is a global education program to nurture female talents, through which Ewha is enabled to fulfill its social responsibilities and contribute its educational capacity.

This commemoration event was held to celebrate its 10th anniversary. For the past 10 years, the EGPP has accepted 206 students from 39 countries and produced 114 graduates from 25 countries.

Inhee Song
Doctoral Student in Art History

One faculty and student have been selected for the 2016-17 'Visiting Scholars Program' and 'Visiting Fellowship Program' run by Harvard-Yenching Institute respectively.

Harvard-Yenching Institute, a nonprofit research organization that was established in 1928, runs a visiting program targeting Asian scholars in the field of liberal arts and social sciences every year.

Through this program, Professor Chin will be conducting a research on the politics and media culture of modern and contemporary China and China's cold war culture during the Korean War period. Inhee Song plans to broaden her perspective and enhance the quality of her research on the influence of consumer culture on ceramic in 18th-19th century Joseon Dynasty.

HUMAN GENOME ORGANIZATION (HUGO) OPENS AT EWHA

The headquarters of Human Genome Organization (HUGO), a world-class leader in human genome research, is to be moved from Singapore to the Ewha campus in Seoul in 2016. Founded in 1988, HUGO has served to promote international research on the human genome. HUGO's new president, Prof. Charles Lee, Scientific Director of the Jackson Laboratory for Genomic Medicine, was appointed as a distinguished professor at Ewha last year. Prof. Lee is the first scientist to prove the existence of structural genetic variations in human genomes, the "copy-number variation," thus leading to winning the Ho-Am Prize in Medicine in 2008. In 2014, Thomson Reuters selected him as a promising candidate for the Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine. Also, in 2015, a renowned genetic research institute, Ewha-JAX International Research Center for Cancer Immunotherapy with the Jackson Laboratory was established and expects to enhance innovative research.
